THE ELECTRIC NEWS THE WORLD AROUND.

A Word About the President's Backbone—Desperadoes, Bulldozers and Blacklegs favored by the Greenbackers—House Committee on Rules Report—A few Spars on the Appropriation Bill, etc.

The National Capitol.

The House meet at 11 a. m. in continuance of Friday's session and immediately went into the Committee of the Whole on the Army appropriation bill. Sparks of Illinois called attention to the article in the Chicago Inter-Ocean containing account of the interview with President Hayes by Davis of Chicago in which the latter Governor gave that the President would stand firmly by the Republicans—That he had waited upon the President as requested and that there is no reason to believe that the President will disappoint the loyal people of the country. For himself (Davis). He was "enlisted for war." Sparks went on to say that it seemed that the President seemed to have some special disease which rendered it necessary for stalwart members of his party to try to cure it. He asked fair minded men to read articles published in the great Metropolitan Journal of the North west and see whether there was not an effort made there to coerce the President into extreme measures of extreme members and pets in spite of all that, the city of Chicago had just given a democratic majority of 4823 to Carter Harrison. (Our own Carter "He called him") and that was characterized by the Chicago Inter-Ocean as "Victory for the Democrats and howling Rebels," (Laughter.) In the place of putting ramrods into the Presidents back bone, all the marrow and stiffness had been taken out of the Republicans, that the Democratic victory in Chicago was the first popular response from a Republican city and it was startling in its character.

Caswell of Wisconsin reminded Sparks that on the same day Wisconsin had given increased Republican majority of over 6000. To that Bragg of Wisconsin responded in a manner that elicited loud applause from the Democratic side. Then Chittenden of New York made an impassioned speech sneering at the Greenbackers and telling the Democrats that their present policy was in favor of desperadoes, and bulldozers and blacklegs at the polls.

The amendment offered yesterday by New, of Indiana, that the repeal shall not abridge or affect the right and duty of the Executive to respond to the call of the State Legislature or Governor was agreed 85 to 4, Republicans refraining from voting on either side. Lowe, of Ala., moved to strike out section 6 from the bill and Conger, of Mich., suggested to the other side of the House that if that were done his side would aid them in passing immediately without debate the separate bill repealing the entirely so-called objectionable sedtions of statutes. McMahon, of Ohio, speaking for himself repudiated the proposition. The House committee on rules who have had under consideration the proposition to increase the membership of several of the most important standing committees of the House met this morning and authorized Blackburn to report to the House in favor of increasing the Com. on elections from 11 as at last Congress to 15. Ways and Means from 11 to 13, Appropriations from 11 to 15, Commerce from 11 to 15, Judiciary, from 11 to 13, Agriculture from 11 to 15, and fixing the membership of committies on enrolled bills at 7 instead of 8 as last reported at the last session. The proposion to increase the printing committee was considered, but found that the law fixed the membership that the committee three in conformity with the like commitee of the Senate to act, jointly when by so doing measures referred to them can be better facilitated as the committee took no action on the proposed distribution of several annual appropriation bills among the committees having the like subjects in charge. But it is very probable that when the question of the increasing committee on eppropriations will propose to commit to the military committees on appropriations for army and all branches of military service to the naval committee on appropriations for naval service to increase appropriations relating to to navigation &c.

In course of the debate, Cox, of New York stated that he had in the Democratic Councils favored the repeal of the obnoxious measures in an independent bill, but that he had been overruled and that he had acquiesced in superior wisdom—but not superior to experience of others. He expected that if the President vetoed the bill, the Senate would send to the House, the repeal bills pure and simple and then there would be a chance of testing the sincerity of the Republican side. The "Border ruffian" history of Kansas was revived in the speeches by Aiken of South Carolina, and Haskell of Kansas.

After several amendments had been offered and rejected the committee arose and reported the bill to the House; unimportant amendments were agreed to without division. Cameron, of Ill., asked Sparks to allow the House an opportunity to have the yea and nay vote on repealing the section. McMahone objected. The bill then passed. Yeas, 146 nays 122. A strict party vote. The Greenbackers voted as follows: In the affirmative, De La Matyr, Ford, Gillett, Jones, of Texas, Ladd, Lowe, of Alabama, March, Stevenson, Weaver, Yokum. In the negative; Barlow and Forsythe. The result was received with applause on the Democratic side, The House at 4:20 adjourned until Tuesday.

A Monstrous Outrage.

Wilmington Sun.

The use of troops at the polls is a crime against liberty and a free ballot. It is thoroughly wrong, and is subversive of our institutions. It ought never to have been allowed, and the continuance of such a law would be a great and inexecusable wrong. The army used by "the powers that be" in behalf of party, and to prepetuate their lease upon office, is a monstrous outrage. The presence of troops at election precincts is a perpetual menace, and is violative of the very genius and safety of our institutions. Clothe the Executive with such more than regal powers, and there can never be another fair and free election in our country.

[CONTRIBUTED.]

Be Silent.

"Observation shows that those persons who indulge most in fault-finding, bitter spirit, always have the most faults of character themseives, and are the most deficient in excellent virtues. A curious, bitter person, is apt to be one of a narrow and prejudiced mind, not liberalized by extensive acquaintance with men and things, and generally self-conceited, contemptuous and positive, just in proportion to his own bitterness of mind, and personal unworthiness. A truly great mind or a great heart, is never contemptuous or scornful or bitter against others, but has always too much knoweldge, or too much goodness for that or both, and too intimate acquaintance with self and personal frailties to allow of their tongues dwelling curiously upon the faults of others. When Goethe was already an old man, he said, "As I grow old, I become lenient to the sins of frail humanity. The man who loudly denounces, I always suspect. He knows too much of crime, who denounces a fellow creature unheard, a knowledge which can only be obtained by criminality itself. The hypocrite always strives to diver. attention from his own wickedness. He thinks he shall seem good, in exact ratio, as he makes others seem bad." We may treasure up such remarks of the follies and vices of our good neighbors as may be a constant guard against the practice of the same without exposing the reputation of our neighbors on that account. The naturally mean, vulgar and immodist are apt to charge others with being so, just in proportion as all they have of nobility or modesty is counterfeit. They seem to forget that to the pure, all things appear to be pure, and the calling attention to an immodest thing is far more immodest than the thing itself, and that commenting upon an indelicy and so making it noticeable is itself the most highly indeliecate." How easy it is, for the forked tongue of gossip, to fill the whole social fabric with its vile, deadly, blighting poison. Oh! what a virtue it is to be silent. Reader, how is it with you? Have you been silent?

A Mother's Influence.

The late Thomas H. Benton who was so long in public life and surrounded by temptations, paid the following tribute to his mother: "My mother asked me never to use tobacco, and I never touched it from that time to the present day; she asked me not to game, and I have not; and I cannot tell who is winning and who is losing in games that can be played. She admonished me, also, against hard drinking, and whatever usefulness I may attain in life, I attribute it to having complied with her pious and correct wishes. When I was seven years of age she asked me not to drink, and then I made a resolution of total abstinence, and that I have adhered to it through all the time I owe to my mother."

SENSATIONAL GOTHAM.

WASHINGTON NATHAN SHOT IN THE NECK BY HIS MISTRESS.

The Deserted Woman—She Shoots Him Twice in the Head—The Wound is serious—Further Details &c.,

Special Dispatch to the Post.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Marion Ward, the actress, shot Washington Nathan in the neck yesterday in the rooms of Alice Harrison, at the Coleman house. The wound is dangerous, but not necessarily fatal. It is said that Nathan ruined and deserted Miss Ward. Nathan is the son of Benjamin Nathan, who was murdered in his house, opposite the Fifth avenue hotel, one night several years ago. She got rooms near Harsison's, and kept the door open in such a way as to command a full view of the main Corridor, and appeared as if she was waiting for the arrival of some person. This was 10 oclock A. M., She had not sat there long before Washington Nathan, closely muffled in a heavy ulster, who walked hurriedly through the hall stopped at the door of the room occupied by Miss Harrison, knock and was admitted, the door closing quickly behind him. Miss Zuland quickly followed Washington Nathan into Harrison's room and fired two shots in rapid succession, both as straight as possible at his head. Miss Harrison ran away screaming and alarmed some of the hotel people. Nathen was not in the neck and ran to a segeon's office, a few blocks distant. The wound is a serious one, but will heal up well unless some unforseen complication should intervene. For three weeks past Miss Alice Harrison, the actress, has been stopping at the Coleman house prior to her departure for Boston, where she has secured a professional engagement, which begins Monday next. She has occupied a parlor and bedroom on the first floor, and has been in the habit of receiving numerous callers in her own apartments. Shortly before 12 o'clock Wednesday night Miss Marion Ward arrived at the hotel with a female servant and registered as Miss Zuland and maid." She said she came from Philadelphia. Miss Zuland retired immediately after the shooting to her own rooms. The proprietor wanted both women to leave the hotel without delay. In less than twenty minutes Miss Zuland was out of the hotel, and within fifteen minutes afterwards Miss Harrison went also. She stated she had gone to Boston. The hotel people did everything possible to hush up the matter, and the particulars were not got by the reporter to an early hour this morning. Miss Zuland, or Ward, said she had shot Nathan in a fit of jealous rage because he had ruined and deserted her for the company of Miss Harrison. She also said she was sorry she had not killed him, and that she had also lured at the woman who had supplanted her in his affections, but she did not think that the bullet took effect. The woman said Nathan had been her friend for years. Some of Harrison's acquaintances say she did not go to Boston, but is up town with friends.

Later to-day it was learned that the woman who shot Nathan was not Miss Ward, but a woman named Birdie Bell, alias Mrs. Barrett, who, it is stated, keeps an assignation house on West Thirty-fourth street, and was jealous of her lover, Nathan. The name of Mrs. Ward became connected with the affair through her on which account her husband, Jim Ward, the Irish comedian, had left her, and she, in turn, had left Nathan because of his fickle conduct and inconstancy. Nathan's physician says he is in no danger of death. What action will be taken in regard to Mrs. Barrett is not known, but it is not believed that she will be prosecuted, owing to the intimate relations existing between herself and Nathan.

THE HAWKEYE MAN.

Josh. J. Burdett, the Humorist.

Philadelphia Times 4th.

HE RELATES HIS NEWSPAPER EXPERIENCE,

"Nine years ago I found myself a proof-reader on the Peoria Transcript; previous to that I had received the education that Peoria high schools treat young people to. After awhile I started a paper of my own—the Peoria Review. I ran it two years it was a comforting sort of paper. It brought to me a few cares, but no uncertainly. I knew every Monday morning that on the next Saturday night I would not have enough money to pay the hands. During my career as editor of this wretched sheet it never disappointed me in that particular—not once.

FINALLY THE SHERIFF TOOK ME

into partnership, and there was a glorious increase of activity. He was an enterprising man, very. He realized more in an hour than I had done in two years. Presently the partnership dissolved, and I looked around for something to do. I thought I would try to get on the Burlington Hawk-eye. It was a sober, staid old paper, financially solid, I was young and active. Thought I, 'I think I can do that paper good. If I can get on the staff I am sure IT WILL DO ME GOOD.' Well I was thinking of going over there when one day its business manager, Mr. Wheeler, came to see me and offered me the position of city editor and reporter. Well, if I live ten thousand years it will not be a long enough time for me to be sufficiently thankful that I accepted the offer, and beside that I am very proud of the fact that they sent for me. It gave me an independence of personal satisfaction that I have

NEVER RECOVERED FROM.

I suppose that I have as good a newspaper position as anybody in the world. I do as I plese, go away from town whenever I want to and write whatever I feel like writing about. The Hawk-Eye demands one thing, however—a column a day, which I usually write on the train. It is easier to do it there than anywhere else. A man with his eyes open can't travel a mile without finding a subject.

CURRENT OPINION.

Enough Garments to go Around.

Phila. Times.

When the Republicans of Chicago open another bloody-shirt campaign for the election of a Mayor they will no doubt make some arrangement to have enough garments to go around. To fail on a wide-awake local issue like this makes it look bad.

In the Event of a Veto.

Phila. Record.

We are persuaded, however, that the President will sign the bill, regardless of the clamors of the stalwart Republicans and the hideous imaginings of Garfield. In the event of a veto, however, the plain duty of Congress will be to vote the necessary appropriations and take an appeal to the country.

ELIZABETH PATTERSON BONAPARTE.

A Remarkable Life—She Dies in Baltimore, April 4th.

Baltimore Sun.

The death of Madame Bonaparte closes a career of peculiar and mournful interest. It really removes from the world one of the most remarkable of American women. The life which has just ended was in itself a historical romance, and had been so linked with lives which were at one time more conspicuous in the wars and politics of the old world than any which had preceded them for cenenries, that, whether in life or death, her name recalls the greatest personages and events of modern times. On Christmas Eve, 1803, the marriage of Jerome Bonaparte, the younger of Napoleon's brothers, with Elizabeth Patterson took place, and at that time Napoleon was the conqueror of Egypt and Italy and First Consul of France. The bride was in her 18th year, (she was born February 6, 1785,) and the groom was less than four months older, having been born at Ajaccio, November 15, 1784. Nothing could have been, apparently, more brilliant and hopeful than such an alliance, yet in a short period she found herself a discarded wife, and has lived to see her husband's family twice ruined and twice overthrown.

THE HATTERAS WRECK.

Forbidden to Secure a Drowned Wife and Daughter.

Wilmington Sun.

Last night's developments in regard to the wrecked Wyanoke, in Hatteras Inlet, received over the wires of the signal station in this city, are of a character that will shock humanity. The vessel is owned by one Harry Farrow, colored, whose son was captain of her. Three white passengers—Mrs. and Miss Rue and a Mr. Whitehurst—were on board the ship when it left Cape Hatteras for Newbern. As our readers have been informed, the Wyanoke was found bottom up on the beach, and a short distance from it was found the body of Mr. Whitehurst. No other bodies have been recovered. Mrs. and Miss Rue are the wife and daughter of the keeper of Hatteras Light House, and are supposed to be in the cabin of the upturned vessel. Mr. Rue yesterday attempted to secure their bodies by cutting through the top of the boat, but was forbidden and made to desist by Farrow, who claimed the boat and would let no one touch it. Upon this turn of affairs, Rue telegraped to the Collector of Customs, at Newbern, for advice, and received the reply to go ahead and get the bodies of his family from the wreck. The telegraphic advices seem to confirm the belief that the crew and passengers are drowned in the cabin. How Rue and the negro owner of the boat will adjust affairs, is not known, but Rue will act in accordance with the advice of the Collector at Newbern. The action of Farrow is disgusting. Pity he was not on the ill-fated boat, instead of his son.

SNAKES.

A NEST OF SERPENTS IN A HUMAN BODY.

A Colored Woman in Raleigh Relates Her Strange Story—Living Reptiles Feed on Her—A Hopeless Case—The Conjurer Saves Her Life—A Curious Story, etc.

In the southern part of the 4th Ward, among a mass of tumble-down shanties occupied almost wholly by negroes, there stands a little cottage newly built. Flowers are blooming in the small front yard in marked contrast to the rotten appearance of the other places in the neighborhood.

The house is occupied by Irene Upman, a colored woman, her husband and their three children. Irene is now thirty-five years old, was born in Wake county. She was raised by Miss Sallie Towles of this city, who owned her and with whom she lived until about three years age. She has an excellent character, and every one who knows her says that she is a good christian woman; her character for honesty and truthfulness is not surpassed. She has been confined to her bed for more than a year, and the following is the account of her remarkable case, as told by her to a NEWS reporter yesterday.

HER TALE.

"About eighteen months ago I lived in a little house just on the other side of Miss Lena Earle's. That child (pointing to her baby) was born there, and it was about two weeks after the child was born that I commenced getting sick, and feeling the pains here (placing her hand on her right breast). It didn't bother me over-much at first; it was only when I would eat that they commenced gnawing, and—oh! my!—I can't tell you how it felt; it was just like something was eating me up inside. I sent for Doctor McKee, and he gave me some medicine, but it did me no good. It seemed like there was a growing gnawing, until I thought I just couldn't stand it no more. When I would eat it felt like something was curling round my ribs here (right side) and trying to chaw me to pieces. I sent for Doctor Alston, and he didn't do me any good either. Every time I took the physic, something seemed to crawl about in this side, and

I THOUGHT I SHOULD DIE.

Then Doctor Hines came to see me, but it want no use, he didn't help me any more than the others. My husband next sent to Clayton for Dr. Duncan, when he came to see me he gave me some stuff that made the snakes change their position from my breast to my stomach very suddenly, if you had been here you could have seen it. Then the pains were awful.

I got weaker and weaker and thinner and thinner. Spots and streaks commenced coming on my body and the skin on my hands and arms and my legs from my knees down commenced getting slimy just like a frog, you can see there, (showing her left arm) it looked something like that, I could take the skin on my heel and pull it off; just under it you could see little white spots that looked like they were moving.

AN OLD COLORED DOCTOR WOMAN

come to see me and as soon as she felt me and looked at me she says: "You swallowed some young snakes and they have just growed up in you and you are bad off. I've seen people who swlloed young snakes before and know what I'm talking about." She greased me with some truck and give me some roots to make tea with. I took the physic and the things moved from my stomach to my breast, just the same place they were at before. Big knots, the size of a kittens head, would come suddenly on my thighs they would change about from place to place from my legs to my body and they would jump just as suddenly as a cat can jump, you would see things crawling about my body, they looked like snakes running about under my skin and you could feel them, too. I suffered death, I couldn't drink any water hardly, for it tasted so much like physic. The two doctors couldn't tell what was the matter with me and they

GIVE ME UP TO DIE.

I thought I was going to die, too. Everybody said that the snakes was poisoning me. I commenced thinking about the snakes and I knew just when I got them in me. It was at the other house; the water bucket used to stay in the porch and I went took a drink of the water one night, and felt like I had swallowed some live worms, it was the same way another time when I drunk water and just about two weeks afterwards the pains commenced taking me.

Well sir, that man standing there (pointing to Major Hinton,) is the only person that has ever done me any good. I commenced getting better as I took his roots and pills.

PIECES OF SNAKES PASSED FROM ME,

the neighbors all saw them. I know that the medicine was killing them out and I got better. There he stands, he will tell you all about curing me and I expect to be able to go up town in about a week." Such is the strange story of Irene Upman's illness. The woman can vouch for the truthfulness of her wonderful story. All the people of the neighborhood are witness to the truth of it.

Doctor Major Horton belonged to Col. David Hinton, he has lived most of the time on Col. Hinton's Edgecombe farm. There is where he learned to cure people who swallow snakes. When interviewed he said:

"Yes boss, I'se seen sech a thing afore. When I lived down on mars Daves farm in Edgecombe, I'se knowed the niggers to get in em when they drank water an the old grannies would give 'em roots and stuff that would kill the snakes and make them leave 'em. I've seen little snakes that had passed thru a person. Jest about one month ago Irene Upman's husband come to me and told me he wanted me to see Irene and try and do something for her. I went to see her and she was so sick that she couldn't raise up in de bed. Jest as soon as I seed her an zamined her symtums I knowed she had swallowed snakes. I tole her so and she said, that's what the rest of the doctors say. I knowed what the ole grannies used to do, so I knowed what to do for her. I'll tell you boss, but I wouldn't tell anybody else. I jest got me my roots and put 'em in de pot and den put in a heap of tobacco, den

LITTLE SNAKES AN SPRING LIZZARDS

I BILED SOME SILVER WID IT

to make it strong. You know de bacca chokes de snakes an kills 'em. It was almost as strong as bacca juice itself. I gives her dat an she commences to git better. Den I give her some pills an she commenced to pass off pieces of de snakes. De pieces was some of 'em, six inches long an looked jest like pieces of dese little garter snakes dat you have seed many a time. Dey wasn't pieces of tape worms, dey was snakes, der'es nothing so strange in dat, for I've knowed sich cases many a time. I'se not de only one dat saw 'em, all de people 'roun here saw 'em. You ax anybody an dey'll tell you de same."

A LIVE SNAKE.

Yesterday at half past one o'clock, a live snake passed from the woman; it was six inches in length and about the size of the little finger. It was light in color and spotted and striped towards the tail. Her husband put it in a bottle of water and intends to keep it at his house, to show to any person who doubts this horrible story.

We give this strange case to the public as the most wonderful occurrence in our midst, for years. A verification of the facts can be obtained by paying a visit to the womans house.

THE SABBATH DAY.

God's Plan.

May Riley Smith.

Some time, when all life's lessons have been learned,
And sun and stars forevermore have set,
The things which our weak judgment here have spurned
The things o'er which we grieved with lashes wet,
Will flash before us out of life's dark night,
As stars shine most in deeper tints of blue;
And we shall see how all God's plans are right,
And how what seemed reproof was love most true.

And we shall see, while yet we frown and sigh,
God's plans go on as best for you and me;
How, when we called, he heeded not our cry,
Because his wisdom to the end could see,
And e'en as prudent parents disallow
Too much of sweet to craving babyhood,
So God, perhaps, is keeping from us now
Life's sweetest things because it seemeth good.

And if, sometimes, commingled with life's wine,
We find the wormwood, and rebel and sink,
Be sure a wiser hand than yours or mine
Pours out this portion for our lips to drink,
And if some friend we love is lying low,
Where human kisses cannot reach his face,
Oh do not blame the loving Father so,
But bear your sorrow with obedient grace!

And you shall shortly know that lengthened breath
Is not the sweetest gift God sends His friend,
And that, sometimes, the sable pall of death
Conceals the fairest bloom his love can send,
If we could push ajar the gates of life,
And stand within, and all God's workings see,
We could interpret all this doubt and strife,
And for each mystery could find a key.

But not to-day. Then be content, poor heart,
God's plans, like lilies pure and white, unfold,
We must not tear the close shut leavas apart—
Time will reveal the calyxes of gold.
And if, through patient toil we reach the land,
Where tired feet, with sandals loose, may rest,
When we shall clearly know and understand,
I think that we will say that "God knows best."

The Stream to the Mill.

"I notice," said the stream to the mill, "that you grind beans fully as well and as cheerfully as fine wheat." "Certainly," clacked the mill; "what am I for but to grind? and so long as I work, what does it signify to me what the work is? My business is to serve my master, and I am not a whit more useful when I turn out fine flour than when I make the coarsest meal. My honor is not in doing fine work, but in performing any that comes as well as I can." This is what girls and boys ought to do—do what ever comes in their way as well as possible.

What is Life.

A little crib beside a bed; a little face beneath the spread; a little frock behind the door; a little shoe upon the floor; a little lad with dark brown hair; a little blue-eyed face and fair; a little lane that leads to school; a little pencil, slate and rule; a little blithesome, winsome maid; a little hand within one laid; a little cottage, acres four; a little old-time-fashioned store; a little family gathering round; a little turf-heaped, tear-dewed mound; a little added to the soil; a little rest from hardest toil; a little silver in his hair; a little stool and easy chair; a little night and earth-lit gloom; a little cortege to the tomb.

But after all these scenes are past, a glorious day shall come at last, when death's cold captives shall arise, to see their Judge descend the skies. "Oh! when His glorious face I see, what shall my final portion be?"

How to Spend Time.

Spend your lime in nothing which you know must be repented of. Spend it in nothing which you could not review with a quiet conscience on your dying bed. Spend it in nothing which you might not safely and properly be found doing, if death should surprise you in the act.

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignficant organ. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proved itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

Of all places in North Carolina it can be demonstrated that this city is the most admirably situated for the center of great iron industries. The ore deposits of the central belt are on the Cape Fear river and its affluents. There is steam navigation to Fayetteville, which ancient borough is connected by rail with the Gulf, which place is right in the heart of the coal and iron beds. Besides, the Carolina Central Railroad connects at Hamlet with the Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line, which road runs through the mining country. Either route affords ample facilities for transportation, which can be had also by the R. & A. L., N. C. R R., and W W & R. R., via Raleigh and Goldsboro. In addition to this if the Mt. HUSSEY, & JORDAN Proprietors.

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

PRODUCERS OF TOBACCO.

A case of interest to producers of tobacco was decided in the United States District Court, Boston, Mass., last week. One James Stetson was indicted and convicted for selling leaf tobacco of his own raising without a license. It appears that Stetson—and his practice was common with the neighbors, also—traded his crop for dry goods, groceries, and other matters of domestic use. In other words, he paid his rent, store bills and grocery bills with leaf tobacco. There was no imputation of any design to cheat or defraud the Government. The practice was the result of ignorance. The 3244th section of the United States Statutes, under which the conviction of Stetson was had, reads:

"Dealers in leaf tobacco, except retail dealers in leaf tobacco, as herein after defined, shall pay $25. Every person shall be regarded as a dealer in leaf tobacco, whose business it is, for himself or on commission, to sell or offer for sale, or consign for sale on commission, leaf tobacco, and payment of special tax as dealer in tobacco, manufacturer of tobacco, manufacturer of cigars, or any other special tax, is therefore hereby required, but no farmer or planter shall be required to pay a special tax as dealer in leaf tobacco for selling tobacco of his own production, or tobacco received by him as rent from his tenants, who has produced the same on his land; provided that nothing in this section shall be construed to exempt from special tax any farmer or planter who, by peddling or otherwise, sells leaf tobacco at retail directly to consumers, or who sells, assigns, consigns, transfers, or disposes of to persons other than those who have paid a special tax as leaf dealers or manufacturers of tobacco, snuff or cigars, or to persons purchasing leaf tobacco for export,"

By this law it will be seen by the grower of tobacco is confined within very narrow limits, if he sells without a license. He can only sell to a manufacturer. If he sells his crop direct to the consumer, he becomes a retail dealer, and must pay a special tax.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM (?)

The evidence of Gorham, the Secretary of the Republican Executive Committee, before the Wallace Committee is edifying reading from the civil-service reform point of view. The assessing of Government employees for political purposes has been positively forbidden by statute, but the Republican Committee seems to have considered the statute a sort of joke and their liberty of action complete. Gorham says their "feeling against assessments" was unanimous, and they magnanimously resolved that the contributions should be "voluntary." They accordingly sent round agents to dun the unfortunate and poorly-paid clerks, and actuallly raised one per cent. from them on their salaries, amounting in all to $93,000. The whole campaign fund raised amounted to only $106,000, so that all which that portion of the party which does not get its living out of the public Treasury contributed to save the country from the Democratic "revolutionists" was $13,000. The rest was extorted from the civil servants of the Government, who have of right no more interest in saving the country than anybody else. And yet when the Democrats come into power there will be a great outcry if they dismiss from the public service the persons whose salaries furnished last year eighty-eight per cent. of the total cost of the Republican canvass.

THE VIRGINIA STATE DEBT.

The Virginia State debt has at last been settled by the passage of the McCulloch bill. Registered and coupon bonds are to be issued, dated January 1, 1879, the principal payable in 1919, with interest at three per cent. for ten years, four per cent. for the next twenty years, and five per cent. for the last ten years. The State has the option to redeem any or all of the bonds by paying the principal and accrued interest at any time after the expiration of ten years from January 1, 1879. The coupons will be receivable at maturity for all taxes and dues of the State, and the bonds and coupons are non-taxable. This settlement has been violently opposed by a party known as the Forcible Readjusters, who objected to any rate of interest greater than three per cent. and to the tax-receivable feature of the coupons. They prevented the passage of the bill during the regular session of the Legislature, thus making an extra session necessary at an expense of $40,000 to the embarrassed treasury of Virginia, and this too when they were pretending that the State could not afford to pay the interest on its debts.

THE International Exhibition of Melbourne, Australia, is to be on a very imposing scale, as we judge by a circular addressed to the NEWS by the Executive Committee. The building alone is to cost $475,000, and the exhibition is to continue for six months, beginning October 1. The circular states that Australia now ranks third among the export markets of the United Kingdom. Exclusive of Canada, it holds almost as high a position among the export markets of the United States. The sale for American agricultural implements in Australia is large, and if anything like the usual American enterprise is exhibited, the market there can be indefinitely extended. All the space in the exhibition is free, and ninety thousand square feet have been reserved for the use of the United States.

GENERAL GARFIELD revised his speech before it got into the official paper of Congress, and took out whole chuncks of revolution. It is a much calmer and more innocent affair now, and it is even doubtful if it can be utilized in its present shape to fire the Northern heart.

THE only people who are talking about "revolution are the Republicans. The Democrats are hard at work trying to pass the necessary appropriation bills for the Government against Republican opposition, which seems to be trying to "shoot the nation."

TILDEN.

Tilden has been unusually active of late for an old paralytic with "transparent hands" and all his faculties gone except his memory. After procuring the election of a "notorious squire" in the Philadelphia municipal election and getting the keeper of the Auburn Penitentiary dismissed, he brought about the election of Speaker Randall as Speaker of the House and got Congressman O'Reilly put out of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen, had the Police Commissioners called on to show cause why they should not be removed and had Gumbleton the County Clerk dismissed and the office seized at daybreak by Thompson. He then redistricted the State of Indiana, "sold out" of the Elevated Railroad, making a profit of three millions, and put a Democrat into a Florida seat in the House which rightly belonged to a Republican, and is now trying to coerce the President by tacking revolutionary legislation to appropriation bills. In addition to this he is directing the operations of a large band of hired men who are disseminating falsehoods invented by himself. These are only a few of his public "moves." His private "moves" are not, of course, easily watched, but they are far more numerons and nefarious, and consist of various forms of speculation and railroad and steamboat wrecking. He probably in leasiure moments sends little boys to the bank with forged checks, and waits round the corner for the money. It is a favorite trick with him to give out after "a move" that it is Green's or some other "move," inasmuch as if his own hand were in it it would have been done differently, and so on.

A PERNICIOUS PRACTICE.

Mr. Buckner, of Mo., has comprehensively discussed the practice of "tacking" political legislation to appropriation bills. Republican practices and precedents without number are found, but that does not free such legislation from very grave objections. We quote from Mr. Buckner's remarks, which abundantly demonstrate the necessity of a modification and change of the rules of the House. Said Mr. Buckner:

That there are grave objections to this mode of legislation—that of tacking on to bills appropriating money for the support of the various departments of the Government independent and distinct legislation—will not be controverted. It has been condemned by men of all parties in the past, and still it has been resorted to again at almost every session of Congress for the last twenty years. In several of the States it is absolutely prohibited by constitutional provisions, but there is not only no constitutional prohibition against it in the Federal Constitution, but it is sanctioned and regulated by the House. It is a matter exclusively within the discretion and judgment of the House, under its rules, whether it shall pass each bill on its own merits, or combine several measures of a similar character in one bill and thus "log-roll" the whole into law.

The practice of tacking matters of legislation upon appropriation bills has become so common, and has been so generally adopted by the Republican party, especially while it had control of Congress, that it is safe to say that some other reason exists for it than is now urged against this mode of parliamentary procedure by the minority of this House.

SENATOR Whyte has introduced a bill in the Senate which will put an effectual stop to the highanded and revolutionary proceedings of such Federal Judges as Bond as Rives. The bill provides that no prosecution for any crime or misdemeanor, charged to have been committed agaist the laws of any State pending in any State Court, shall be removed to any Federal Court. It is provided, however, that a final judgment in the highest Court of a State may be re-examined in the Supreme Court of the United States, upon a writ of error, as fully as now allowed by law. Section 2 repeals renacted by the Republican party contrary to the principe of this bill, and Section 3 provides that causes of this nature which have been transferred to the Federal Courts shall be forthwith remanded to the State Courts. This constitutes a most emportant part of the great struggle now being made against Radical tyranny by pack juries and corrupt partisan Judges.

Garfield's Garbled Speeches.

In his speech on Saturday last Garfield alluded to the withdrawal of the Southern men from Congress in 1861 to engage in rebellion as honorable and heroic. He meant by this that it was more honorable to lay down the gage of mortal battle and attempt to destroy the nation by the sword than to starve it to death. One of his stalwart colleagues waited on him and told him if he did not take back that portion of his speech in which he said the mortal gage of battle offered by the South to the North in 1861 was honorable and heroic, that he (the member) would denounce such utterances from his seat on the floor. Accordingly in the Record, General Garfield revised his speech in this particular. General Garfield said on the floor: "The last act of the Democratic domination in in this House, eighteen years ago, was stirring and dramatic, It was heroic and high-souled. Your leaders did the heroic thing in withdrawing from their seats and flinging down to us the mortal gage of battle. We called it rebellion, but we admit that it was honorable. that it was courageous, and that it was noble to give us the fell gage of battle and fight it out in the open field." What the record now says he said, in lieu of the above sentences, is as follows: "The last act of the Democratic domination in this House was striking and dramatic, perhaps heroic. Your leaders, though holding a majority in the other branch of Congress, were heroic enough to withdraw from their seats and fling down the mortal gage of battle. We called it rebellion, but recognize it as courageous and manly to avow your purpose to take all the risks and fight it out in the open field.,'

Dread and despair is cast upon the community when a terrible epidemic, like the cholera or yellow fever, suddenly desolates our homes; yet, all the while a more insidious, but no less fatal foe, enters thousand of households every year and carries off the flower of the family in the early flush of manly youth and budding womanhoods. People call it presumption, or "decline." It is not, in most cases, the true peculiar phthisis or consumption of the lungs, which is the peculiar malady in climates like those of that British Islands and New England, but a general decay or arrest of the vital processes of nutrition. All the doctors agree that there is no remedy for this but COD LIVER OIL, but they are constantly met by the obstacle of inability or the part of the patient to swallow or retain it. This repulsion is entirely overcome by SCOTT'S EMULSION OF THE OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA which is agreeable to the taste and the most perfect nutrient and tonic for the body now known to the profession.

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side, sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant organ. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proved itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

These "blunders" of the Democratic party—did you ever think about them? They have cleaned out the rogues in the South, put the whiskey ring at the North in the penitentiary, honestly carried a Presidential election, recovered first one house of Congress and then the other—well, the list is as long as the Homeric Catalogue. It has not been a good day for bluders, too.

OLD, TRIED, AND TRUE.

People are getting acquainted—and those who are not ought to be—with the wonderful merits of that great American Remedy, the

MEXICAN Mustang Liniment,

FOR MAN AND BEAST.

This liniment very naturally originated in America, where Nature provides in her laboratory such surprising antidotes for the maladies of her children. Its fame has been spreading for 35 years until now it encircles the habitable globe.

The Mexican Mustang Liniment is a matchless remedy for all external ailments of man and beast.

To stock owners and farmers it is invaluable.

A single bottle often saves a human life or restores the usefulness of an excellent horse, ox, cow, or sheep.

It cures foot-rot, hoof-ail, hollow horn, grub, screw-worm, shoulder-rot, mange, the bites and stings of poisonous reptiles and insects, and every such drawback to stock breeding and bush life.

It cures every external trouble of horses, such as lameness, scratches, swinny, sprains, founder, wind-gall, ring-bone, etc., etc.

The Mexican Mustang Liniment is the quickest cure in the world for accidents occurring in the family, in the absence of a physician, such as burns, scalds, sprains, cuts, etc. and for rheumatism, and stiffness engendered by exposure. Particularly valuable to Miners.

It is the cheapest remedy in the world, for it penetrates the muscle to the bone, and a single application is generally sufficient to cure.

Mexican Mustang Liniment is put up in three sizes of bottles, the larger ones being proportionately much the cheapest. Sold everywhere.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fever, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile, and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it. They being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

The market has been active during the past week and the improved condition of the trade generally and the now evident short supply of cotton for the demand of the world has caused an advance, and prices on Friday last reached ten and a half cents, but closed on Saturday at ten and three eights; basis middling. This advance will stimulate the planting of cotton and encourage our farmers, who have been generally depressed on account of low prices of cotton this season.

Universal Favorites!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and facas;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget

Make Your Own Fertilizer.

With ten dollars worth of chemicals, which I will furnish in proper proportions for one ton of fertilizer, added to such materials as every farmer has in abundance around the farm, he can make a ton of fertilizer equal to the best high priced fertilizer on the market.

A Remedy that has been ...emedied.

The invincible repugnance felt by almost every one to the smell and flavor of cod Liver Oil, has prevented tens of thousands of the victims of debility, from reaping the benefits of its peculiar healing and nutritive properties. The almost hopeless consumptive, the martyr to Rheumatism, the barely living shadow of men, women and children that emerge from the clutches of malaria fevers, all of these know, or at least their doctors know, that of all discovered remedies, this Oil is the best and often the only one that will build up their wasted bodies and restore their shattered nerves, and far more effective than the Oil by itself is Scott's Emulsion of it, with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. This is the most and most natural food and medicine in the world, and wholly deprived of its disagreeable qualities. Sold by Wm. Simpson, Drug. ...

REMARKABLE cure of an inflamed tear-duct or passage to the eye, without an operation.—Mrs. Gibson who has a large and extensive confectionery and candy store at No. 25 East 42d Street, near the Grand Central Depot, was about to have a silver tube inserted in the tear passage of her left eye. The enlargement and inflamation were very great. Before submitting to the operation, tried Dr. Giles' Liniment, rubbed in carefully over the inflamed duct. The inflamation disappeared, the passage became clear, and was through its power able to do without a surgical operation. THIS standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."

Price, One Dollar.

FROM A PROMINENT VETERINARY SURGEON.

Mr. Wm M. GILES, Chemist, Sir. I have practiced extensively in Europe and America, and your new discovery, Liniment (Oil of Ammonia), surpasses anything I ever used for spavin, sprains, lameness in the limbs or shoulders, weakness across the kidneys, wind galls, and hard, bony swellings on the joints. It is truly marvelous.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
